

Terms

Effective July 2023

By accessing the Empower Dyslexic Kids/Karen Robertson (“Company”) website, empowerdyslexickids.com, you acknowledge and agree to be bound by all of the terms and conditions (“Terms”) stated herein. These terms govern your access to and use of the Company Website.

All references herein to “we” or “us” refer to Empower Dyslexic Kids/Karen Robertson. All references herein to “you” or “your” refer to any user of this site.

We reserve the right, in our sole discretion, to change, modify, add, or delete portions of these Terms or any aspect of the Website at any time without further notice. We will post changes to these Terms on this web page and will indicate at the top of this page the date these Terms were last updated. Your continued use of the Website after any such changes are posted constitutes your acceptance of the new Terms. If you do not agree to abide by these or any future Terms, do not use or access Company’s Website. It is your responsibility to regularly check the Website to determine if there have been changes to these Terms and to review such changes.

Website Use

You must be eighteen years of age or older to access this website. The website is intended for adults and therefore the site is not monitored to comply with the Child Online Privacy Act (COPA).

Unless specifically agreed to in writing by Company, you may not use the Website for any commercial purpose. Empower Dyslexic Kids/Karen Robertson prohibits any actions to solicit funds, promote commercial entities or websites, or otherwise engage in commercial activity through the Website.

You must abide by the following rules of conduct at all times while making posts on Company’s Website. We may restrict your access to part or all of the website without notice or penalty, in our sole discretion and for any reason, including without limitation if we believe you are in breach of these rules of conduct, the Terms of Use, or any applicable law.

- Contributions must not violate any laws.
- Contributions must pertain directly to the content of this Website.

- Contributions must not contain language or pictures that are vulgar, obscene, racist, pornographic, violent, indecent, advocates illegal activity, threatening, abusive, or is offensive.
- Contributions must not discriminate against anyone on the basis of age, race, gender, heritage, sexual preference, or other classification.
- Contributions must not verbally attack other contributors or their comments. All contributions must be professional and respectful.
- Contributions must not misrepresent who you are.
- Contributions must include your original comments and material and must not violate any copyright or trademark laws.
- Contributions may not include software or any other materials that would harm our site or any other User's computer.
- Contributions must be written in English so that they can be monitored per these Terms.
- Contributions that mention other websites or contain a link to another website must contain content that is appropriate for the Company's community and meets these Terms.
- Unless specifically agreed to in writing by Empower Dyslexic Kids/Karen Robertson, you may not make contributions for commercial purposes.

It is your responsibility as a user of our website to conduct any necessary background checks or reference checks on any person or resource listed on our website that you might want to hire or to purchase.

Disclaimer

The Empower Dyslexic Kids/Karen Robertson (Company) and Adventures in Wisdom publications are designed to provide information pertaining to the subject matter covered. Our publications are provided and/or sold with the understanding that Karen Robertson is sharing this information with the reader and that the success of the material will vary from individual to individual.

Our publications are also being sold with the understanding Empower Dyslexic Kids, Karen Robertson and Adventures in Wisdom are not providing psychological, medical, or other professional counselling services and it is recommended that the services of a competent professional should be obtained if expert advice or counselling is required.

All statements in Empower Dyslexic Kids and Adventures in Wisdom Content (articles, publications, trainings, videos, etc.) represent the opinions of the authors – Karen Robertson for Empower Dyslexic Kids and Renaye Thornborrow for Adventures in Wisdom.

It is your responsibility as a user of our website to conduct any necessary background checks or reference checks on any person or resource listed on our website that you might want to hire or to purchase.

Warranty

All websites, products and services are provided, as is, without warranty of any kind, either express or implied, including, but not limited to, the implied warranties of merchantability and fitness for a particular purpose.

Empower Dyslexic Kids/Karen Robertson's entire liability, and the purchaser's exclusive remedy, shall be a refund of the price paid or replacement of our products, at our option. Replacement is limited to thirty days from day of purchase.

Copyright

The content written by our author(s) and posted on our website – empowerdyslexickids.com is protected by copyright law. You may make a single print copy of the content contained on the website for your personal use unless stated otherwise. All copies must maintain Company branding and copyright information. You may not modify nor change content in any manner and may not republish any of Company's work as your own.

Policies and Procedures for Life Coaching and Mindset Training with Karen Robertson

The services provided by Karen Robertson include mindset training and life coaching for children, as well as for parents. The coaching topics for children may include, but are not limited to, self-esteem development, self-confidence building, stress reduction, peer relationships, improving communication and family relationships, goal setting, limits, expectations, future planning, and decision making. Coaching for parents includes support for parents in enhancing their relationships with their child.

Whilst life coaching can make significant differences in children's lives, life coaching is not medical treatment or psychological therapy or analysis of any kind and does not claim to be medical treatment or therapy or analysis of any kind. Life coaching does not involve treatment of any kind. Karen Robertson is not a doctor or therapist.

While life coaching may address issues that may have physical or mental implications for children, including but not limited to depression, anxiety disorders, learning difficulties,

ADHD, ADD, and fears, life coaching does not treat these as disorders in any therapeutic sense. Instead, life coaching focuses on assisting the child to deepen self-awareness, build self-confidence, move forward towards specific goals, and/or achieve an established outcome. It is not about processing of core inner struggles. The coaching process does so by providing support and specific strategies to help maximise the quality of daily life and feelings of self-worth for the client.

For coaching services, the sessions between Karen Robertson and a client are confidential. Nonetheless, if Karen Robertson discovers or strongly suspects that a child may be having a mental health issue that could result in immediate danger or risk to themselves, or to a parent, or to a third party, or that the client is experiencing mental or physical abuse, Karen Robertson, to the extent permitted by law, will notify the client's parents or appropriate authorities.

For Online Mindset Training – Empower Dyslexic Kids

As the parent or guardian of the client, the parent understands and agrees that the parent (s) and their child are responsible for their child's well-being throughout the mindset training or coaching relationship, including any choices and decisions made. The parent acknowledges that mindset training and coaching results are in no way guaranteed.

Mindset training is not a substitute for therapy, counselling, or psychotherapy. Mindset training and coaching does not diagnose or treat any mental disorders and will not use coaching as a replacement for any form of necessary therapy for my child.

If the client (child) is under the supervision of a professional therapist, the parent acknowledges that they have consulted with this person regarding the advisability of doing mindset training or working with a life coach and that this person is aware of the parent's decision for the child to be coached.

The parent understand that a life coach is a guide and not a decision maker.

The parent understands that what is discussed within a coaching relationship is considered confidential as above. The exception to this is if required by law.

The parent understands that coaching is not a substitute for professional advice in the matters of mental health, finances, legal, medical or business issues. The parent agrees to seek the appropriate expertise as the parent needs and agrees that all decisions in these arenas are exclusively the parent's own.

To the extend not prohibited by law, the parent hereby fully releases on behalf of yourself, your spouse, and your child, and covenant not to sue Karen Robertson for any claims, demands, action, and causes of actions whatsoever, for any loss, claim, damage, injury, illness, legal fees or harm of any kind or nature to you, your spouse or your child(ren) arising out of any and all activities associated with you and your child(ren)'s participation in Karen Robertson's mindset training/life coaching or as a result of it.

You hereby agree to hold harmless and indemnify Karen Robertson for any claims, damages or other legal or equitable relief of any kind or nature.